Trip Staff Guide

This guide is for Trip Leaders and Org Admins running a trip: reviewing applications and documents, approving people, and managing roles, rooming, flights, donations, and team email. System Admins can do everything here too. The first part walks through the work; the Screen reference describes every screen and dialog field by field.

A Trip Leader manages the trips they lead. An Org Admin manages every trip in their organization. Setting up the organization itself (people, trips, worker roles, document types, email templates) is in the Organization admin guide.

Getting to a trip

- Org Admins: Trips in the menu bar (or Organization Trips on Home). Each row has View (the trip page), Room list, Flights, Import, and Edit.
- Trip Leaders: Trips in the menu bar opens the Trips page for Trip Leaders, which lists each trip's participants. Home lists the trips you lead under "Trips you lead".

Reviewing documents

Each trip needs certain documents from each person: the documents their worker role requires (with any required specializations), a passport if the trip requires one, and a Doctor Permission document if the person is pregnant and your organization has that document type.

1. Choose Review documents on the person's row.
2. For each requirement you'll see the person's documents of that type. The one marked Used for this trip is the one that counts: the one that expires last. A red Expired tag shows on any document from its expiration date on.
3. Choose View to see the file, number, and dates. Required specializations show with their own files.
4. Tick Reviewed once you've checked it. It saves right away. A document without a file can't be reviewed.

From the viewer you can also:

- Edit — correct the document's details or replace its file. First untick Reviewed; reviewed documents are locked for everyone.
- Request reload — ask the person to upload it again, with an optional note. This unticks Reviewed and emails them, if your organization has a "Document reload requested" email template. The document shows "Reload requested" until a new file is uploaded or you mark it Reviewed again.

Reviewed belongs to the document, not the trip. A document reviewed for one trip counts as reviewed for every trip.

Approving applications

Applications become Pre-Approved when the participant submits a complete profile and application. You approve them.

1. Choose Approve App on a Pre-Approved row.
2. If anything is missing, the dialog lists it above the application:
   - Before approving, the profile needs: — missing profile fields.
   - Before approving, the application needs: — missing application answers, such as trip role, funding, flight purchase option, pregnancy question, or agreements.
   - Before approving, these documents need to be uploaded and reviewed: — each trip document that's "not uploaded" (including one that doesn't meet the trip's expiration or specialization rules) or "not reviewed".
3. When nothing is missing, choose Approve App.

While anything is missing, Approve App is disabled.

Override Approve

If you've decided to accept someone even though items are missing, choose Override Approve. It appears only when something is missing. It asks "Approve without the missing items?"; confirm to approve. The application becomes Approved just as with Approve App. The override isn't recorded separately, so the missing items are still visible afterwards in the participants table's Missing items.

Trip Leader rows don't go through these checks.

Unapprove, decline, cancel

- Unapprove (in View App on an Approved application) moves it back to Pre-Approved. Use this when the participant needs to change their application: they can't edit an Approved one themselves.
- To decline, set the status to Declined in Edit.
- Cancel frees the person's role spot; Uncancel brings the application back as Incomplete or Pre-Approved, if the role has room.

Adding and editing participants

- Add participant adds someone to the trip directly. Adding someone as Approved runs the same approval checks and has no override. Add them as Pre-Approved and use Override Approve if needed.
- Edit changes the staff-managed parts of an application: worker role, status, participant cost, trip options, and add-on expenses. The participant's own answers (funding, Why go, flights, roommate, agreements, and so on) are changed only by the participant, on their own application.
- Editing someone's profile: while they're Pre-Approved or Approved on a trip that hasn't ended, a save that leaves a required profile field empty is refused, with a list of what's missing. You can't change another person's password or sign-in email; only a System Admin can.

Team roles

Open Team roles on the trip page to see each role's Number Needed, sign-ups, and reservations.

- Add role adds a role with its Number Needed and optional reserved emails.
- Reserved emails holds spots for specific people by email, up to the open spots. When that person applies, they're placed in that role and can't switch. Number Needed can't go below the number of reservations.
- A role with signed-up people can't be removed. Move or cancel them first.

Rooming

Choose Room list on the trip's row.

1. Enter the Hotel name, the Start date (check-in), and any Comments.
2. Give each participant a Room number, Room type, and Nights. People with the same room number share a room, and must have the same room type and nights. Their roommate preferences show alongside.
3. Choose Save.

Room list PDF prints the saved assignments with passport details, flight arrival times, and emails.

Flights

Choose Flights on the trip's row.

- The board lists each participant with who books their flight (Booked by; an info icon shows what they requested), their planned arrival and departure, and their first departure and final arrival.
- Enter a Cost and Comments on the row and choose its Save icon. Cost is only used when the organization books the flight.

- Choose Flight segments on a row to enter the arrival and return legs and the confirmation number. Warnings show when the flights don't match the planned dates or the requested airports.
- Participants who book their own tickets enter their own segments.
- Flights PDF prints every itinerary. Email flight itinerary emails each participant their flights using a Flight itinerary template.

Donations

The Donations page records donations for trips you manage:

- Add donation — enter the donor's email and choose Look up to find an existing donor or a person in the organization; otherwise enter the donor's details. Then the trip, the participant it's for (optional), the amount, the date, and payment info.
- Donations to a participant reduce that participant's amount owed. Donations without a participant count toward the trip.
- Export CSV downloads the trip's donations.

Saving a donation can send donation emails, such as donation received, deposit reached, or fully paid.

Team email

Email team on the trip page sends an email to the team:

1. Choose a template. You can edit the subject and body for this send without changing the template.
2. Choose who gets it in Send to.
3. Preview shows exactly what one recipient will get.
4. Send, then confirm. A status dialog shows how many were sent, skipped, or failed, and why.

Trip arrival PDF

In Trip arrival info on the trip page, upload a PDF (up to 10 MB) with arrival information. You can replace or remove it. Approved team members can open it from My Trip, and email templates can attach it.

Only trip staff can see teammates' personal and medical details.
